THE TREASURER OF SCHOOL BOARD. For some days there has been some discussion among our citizens concerning who was trensurer of the city school board. Some claimed that in cities of the first class the city treasurer acted as treasurer for the school board and others were led to think otherwise. A gentleman familiar with law has looked the matter up, and stated yesterday that the treasurer of the board was the city

WICHITA WATER WORKS COMPANY.

A dispatch was received and published the other morning, from Caldwell, of the water works at that point and giving the heigth to which water was thrown. The writer and signer of the dispatch was the Frisco's civil engineer, who simply made the measurement. The works were put in by the Tiernan & Jones Water Works company, of Wiehita. This company is now putting in water works at Fredonia, and gas works at El Dorado. The latter works will be finished today.

THE INDIANS.

A band of Indians, twenty in number, and comprising members of the Cheyenne and Osage tribes, are camped in the rear of the Richev house, under the charge of Jack Stillwell, deputy U. S. marshal, from Fort Reno, and Ben Clark, the Cheyenne interpreter. They attract crowds of visitors daily, who look with no little interest upon the red braves and their families. Another Indian encampment is northwest of the city, and comprise ten Kiowas. Besides these, there are seven Sacs and Foxes; two Cherokees, ten Creeks, and several representatives of other tribes stopping at the different hotels over the city.

FELL BACK.

Mr. James Howard spenc a few hours yes terday morning driving his Cleveland bay, and on returning to his stable on Emporia avenue his fine goer became excited and he gave him a cut with the whip, which caused him to rear up and fall back. As the horse made no attempt to get up it was soon discovered that he was hurt. An investigation showed that he had seriously hurt his back, and it is thought the chances are that he will die from the injury.
